Dear Parents and Families of New Britain,

It is a privilege to serve as your Superintendent of Schools and to welcome you and your children to the 2022-2023 school year. This year will be a new beginning for our school district. It will be filled with excitement, challenges, and hard work for you, your children, and for all of the staff members of CSDNB.

As we look forward to the year to come, you can expect that we will continue our commitment to communicating with you often and transparently. I want to ensure that your school's principal is reaching out to you regularly with updates and information.

We will put a renewed focus on our school buildings and school safety. I will be working with several of our school and departments to conduct a full audit of all of our school buildings so that we can plan to make them calm, safe, comfortable, and healthy places. This will not be a small task and it will be a long-term commitment but we can and will make improvements.

We will have a renewed focus on the process of teaching and learning. We are investing heavily in curriculum, resources, and technology. Again, these are projects that will take some time to complete but we will ensure forward progress. We will continually train our educators so that they can evolve and improve to better serve New Britain's children.

And, of course, we will continue to honor and celebrate the rich diversity and history of the city of New Britain.

I hope to meet you at one of the many after-school events and competitions that I will be visiting throughout this school year.

In partnership,

Tony Gasper, Ed.D.
